PROCLAMATION

This prophecy from YHWH was given to me whilst I attended a prayer camp with a group of people from various nations. We prayed ten hours a day for ten days; I was also fasting during the camp. I received this vision as the first out of three, on Aug. 02, 2024, in which the Lord showed me what life in the restored Israel spoken about in the Bible will be like.

I stood on my feet, praying in the church building where this camp was taking place, when YHWH told me that He had something to show me. Usually, when the Lord tells me this in advance, it means that it is not an open-eyed vision but that I must be still and focused to see it clearly. So I sat down and bent forward, bowed my head and closed my eyes to wait upon the Lord and calm down my heart and mind.

A few moments later, I heard a woman sitting one row behind me get very passionate in her prayer. Suddenly, she broke out in tongues and began to shout out her prayers with all her might. When I say shout out, I mean SCREAM; it was as if she fell into a trance. Still bent forward with my head bowed, I felt people gather around her to assist her in case she needed any help. It was then that I got sucked into this vision that YHWH wanted to show me.

It began with a group of people in a big temple; there were people of all races, ages and sexes, and I was one of them. I was standing on my feet with my hands lifted to YHWH in praise. Watching this scene, YHWH gave me the knowledge in my spirit that this was His rebuilt temple in Jerusalem. I also understood that He was showing me a representation of it, not its final true appearance at that time.

We were all engaged in praising YHWH and praying to Him. Amid this deep prayer and praise, a woman behind me in the vision also broke out in tongues in the middle of the assembly; she was shouting at the top of her lungs. This woman was screaming prayers to the Father, identically to the woman behind me in the physical church, where I was sitting and seeing the vision.

So the Lord Yahshua (Jesus) Christ used this woman's fellowship with Him in the spirit through her tongues that was happening in the physical church to orchestrate an indescribable experience. It was the same voice and the same words being uttered at the same time. The only difference was that my physical ears heard one in the church where I was praying, whilst my spiritual ears could also capture the same voice and prayer in the spiritual during the vision.

It was a spectacular, inexplicable and very memorable experience. As I transcribe this right now, I can still hear this woman's loud prayers resound in my left ear.

Back to the vision...

As this woman cried out to the Father in the temple, the entire atmosphere was lifted, and other people also began to pray and sing louder. We were ascending in the spirit in oneness and unity, as a single body. Then my point of view began to move, and I could see multiple angles of the temple simultaneously. It was as if my eyes were a camera that was patrolling other sections of the temple. Row after row and bench after bench, I could observe all these people praying and worshipping the Lord.

My view stopped when I saw a group of girls, young teenagers no older than fourteen. They were whispering things in each other's ears, and mocking the woman who was praying loudly in our midst—yes, her voice resounded in the whole temple. They were stealing looks at her, sniggering, whispering things to each other, then looking again, and laughing again. They found her ridiculous in her unrestrained expression of prayer to the Lord, and could not withhold their amusement from the ordeal.

In this vision, the presence of YHWH was present at the front centre of the temple, on the altar. The altar was not a flat platform where a pastor stood to preach as we know it today, but it was the presence of YHWH Elohim Himself. The way I saw Him represented on this altar was as a large cloud of radiant light.

Five seconds had not passed since these young girls began chuckling under their breath, that I heard YHWH Himself call them out by name, one by one. So, to better understand this, it was not a person's lips that spoke their names. It was not a pastor, prophet or elder who spoke on God's behalf, but it was THE ALTAR that summoned them, calling them out by name and asking them to come forward. Yes, you just read that right. A voice, a loud, authoritative male voice, resounded from the Cloud of Light that represented YHWH's presence at the temple's altar, and called the group of girls by their names, asking them to come forward.

The praying and praise stopped and everyone in the temple stood silent, watching and hearing every word that was spoken. This was not a spiritual experience or voice only the girls could hear, but something the whole assembly witnessed.

As they made their way to stand before the altar, YHWH scolded them about their mockery. He reprimanded their mocking and gossiping tongues, saying that they mocked HIM, not the woman. He took His time to explain the meaning of their actions before the whole assembly, and immediately commanded them to their knees for repentance so that He would not unleash His wrath upon them then and there.

These girls hurried and fell to their knees, bowed on their faces before YHWH's altar, and began to confess and repent of their sins.

This is where the vision came to an end.

I opened my eyes and pulled out my notebook to write down what I had just seen, and that blessed woman behind me was still praying her loud prayers in tongues that my left ear still remembers and will probably never forget.

'Thus says the Lord YHWH: On the day that I cleanse you from all your iniquities, I will cause the towns to be inhabited, and the waste places shall be rebuilt. The land that was desolate shall be tilled, instead of being the desolation that it was in the sight of all who passed by. And they will say, "This land that was desolate has become like the garden of Eden, and the waste and desolate and ruined towns are now inhabited and fortified." Then the nations that are left all around you shall know that I, YHWH, have rebuilt the ruined places and replanted that which was desolate; I, YHWH, have spoken, and I will do it.' —Ezekiel 36: 33-36.

YHWH in His love is providing us with insight into what our lives with Him as our God and us as His people in the restored Israel will look like. The desolation will come to an end, the barren land will be no more, and the nations of the earth will know that this is what YHWH has done. As He cleanses us of all our sins and resettles us in our towns, we will be completely reconciled to Him.

We were spending time in YHWH's temple, praying and offering sacrifices of praise that were pure and pleasing to Him. As we prayed in that large assembly, Yah was exalted and magnified. There was no conflict between the people; on the contrary, it was an atmosphere of oneness and peace in the presence of YHWH. It is this kind of meekness and unity of YHWH Elohim's people that will lead to the fulfilment of the scripture that the Lord gave for this prophecy in Ezekiel 36.

The scripture speaks about being restored to the Garden of Eden, which is that place where God and Man are one, and that is exactly what I observed in this vision. Just like we read that Elohim walked and talked with Adam in the cool of the day in Eden, in this vision, the Lord's very own presence was in the temple WITH US. It was the embodiment of the new covenant with Messiah, whose name is Immanuel, meaning, 'God With Us'. He addressed us audibly and directly, and we could all hear Him—from the youngest to the oldest.

The Father disciplines those whom He loves, as He disciplined those little girls in the temple. They were in their early teens, much younger than the rest of the people in attendance. These were children who were still at an elementary stage of learning Yah's will, and when He saw them drifting away into sin in a way that disrupted the oneness of our worship, He brought them back to righteousness immediately then and there; and reflecting the heart of flesh that the Father said He would give His people when He regathers them, these children reacted to His discipline with humility by falling prostrate before Him and repenting. There was no rebellion in them; they felt bad for their deeds and realised their mistake. They accepted the Lord's discipline and embraced it as love.

This is the type of fruit that YHWH awaits from us, and it is also what we can expect as the standard in the regathered Israel that YHWH promised in His word.

Sanctification to holiness is a lifelong journey, and we have the responsibility to work out our salvation with fear and trembling, taking each step with a determination to draw closer to the Father and to reflect Christ's nature every day; only then can we be proven faithful to inherit the promises YHWH made to our people in the beginning and the joy that is set before us in this present age. Therefore, the Father uses discipline and sends trials and suffering to help us in this process.

"Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us also lay aside every weight and the sin that clings so closely, and let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus, the pioneer and perfecter of faith, who for the sake of the joy that was set before him endured the cross, disregarding its shame, and has taken his seat at the right hand of the throne of God.

Consider him who endured such hostility against himself from sinners, so that you may not grow weary in your souls or lose heart. In your struggle against sin you have not yet resisted to the point of shedding your blood. And you have forgotten the exhortation that addresses you as children:

"My child, do not regard lightly the discipline of the Lord or lose heart when you are punished by him, for the Lord disciplines those whom he loves and chastises every child whom he accepts."

Endure trials for the sake of discipline. God is treating you as children, for what child is there whom a parent does not discipline? If you do not have that discipline in which all children share, then you are illegitimate and not his children.

Moreover, we had human parents to discipline us, and we respected them. Should we not be even more willing to be subject to the Father of spirits and live? For they disciplined us for a short time as seemed best to them, but he disciplines us for our good, in order that we may share his holiness. Now, discipline always seems painful rather than pleasant at the time, but later it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it.

Therefore lift your drooping hands and strengthen your weak knees and make straight paths for your feet, so that what is lame may not be put out of joint but rather be healed.' — Hebrews 12:1-13.

This prophecy also reminds us of the fact that YHWH hates mockers and scoffers, especially when the mocking and scoffing are aimed at one of His servants. If you are accustomed to mocking people whom you perceive as lower than you, or any person for any reason whatsoever, please know that our Lord HATES this behaviour. In fact, the very first verse in the book of Psalms talks about this:

'Happy are those who do not follow the advice of the wicked or take the path that sinners tread or sit in the seat of scoffers, but their delight is in the law of YHWH, and on his law they meditate day and night.' —Psalm 1:1-2.

'Punishments are prepared for scoffers and flogging for the backs of fools.' —Proverbs 19:29.

If you are in the habit of mocking and scoffing, slandering and gossiping, YHWH is summoning you to the altar right now to give an account. He is calling you to repent and permanently turn away from this behaviour. Please seize this opportunity now before He runs out of patience because we are living in the season of YHWH's judgment over the earth. You cannot be playing with sin in these end times; the cup of God's wrath is full; He will not contend with mankind forever, says His word, and the time for His patience to wear out is at hand.

He who has ears to hear, let him hear.

AFTERWORD

The Fruit Factory is a call to true Israel and the end times church. It is time for harvest! The Lord Yahshua, the Christ, is sounding the trumpet: only the fruitful will make it.

Here are our top-five recommended proclamations for every reader of The Fruit Factory to get a clear understanding of the times that will preface the Messiah's return, and learn how to endure till the end. Please read them in order, from top to bottom. You won't regret it.

By the way...

'Yahshua' is simply Jesus' name in Hebrew. Various scholars have argued for spellings and/or pronunciations like Yehoshua or Yeshua, which are variations of Joshua, but we prefer to stick with Yahshua as meaning, 'Yah/YHWH saves.'
